

Sanborn is Slated for Judgeship

PLACED IN NOMINATION FOR JUDGESHIP, EIGHTH DISTRICT, BY HOOVER

Washington, Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—President Hoover today nominated John B. Sanborn of Minnesota to be United States circuit judge, eighth district. Sanborn was nominated for the vacancy to be created by the resignation of Judge Wilbur F. Booth, whose resignation becomes effective January 1.

Sanborn's nomination to the federal circuit court of appeals as successor to Booth marks the second time he has followed Booth in promotions. Sanborn was named to the district bench March 18, 1925, to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Booth to the circuit court of appeals.

Sanborn is 47 years old, the son of General John B. Sanborn of civil war fame. He attended public schools in St. Paul and the University of Minnesota. In 1906 he was admitted to the bar and after serving as attorney for the receiver of the Great Western railroad formed a partnership with George Martin in 1910.

In 1914, Sanborn became a member of the firm of Butler and Mitchell. Sanborn had been elected to the state legislature in 1913 and also served in the legislature in 1915. In 1917 he was state insurance commissioner but resigned to enlist in the world war.

In 1918, Sanborn was appointed to the Ramsey county district court bench from which he was elevated to the federal bench.

Sanborn's appointment to the circuit court of appeals was seen by local political observers as a compromise move by the administration with Senator Schall on the confirmation fight on the recent nomination of Gunnar H. Nordbye to the federal district court.

Schall would be allowed to name Sanborn's successor in exchange for his assent to Nordbye's confirmation, it was said.

Joyce Slated to Succeed Sanborn

Washington, Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Appointment of Matt Joyce, Minneapolis lawyer, to succeed Judge John Sanborn as Minnesota district court judge is expected to be announced shortly.

The department of justice and Sen. Schall, both, it is understood, have asked the president to name Joyce.

DeForest Bank Yields Cash to Four Bandits

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Four men held up the bank at DeForest, Wis., today and escaped with about $500 in cash, Minneapolis police were informed today. Telephone wires into the bank were cut by the bandits.

Constans Draws Term in Leavenworth Prison

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Nicholas M. Constans, former head of the defunct Wholesale Consumers Supply company, was sentenced today to four years in Leavenworth penitentiary on charges of using the mails to defraud.

Three other former officials of the company were sentenced to a year and a day in the prison. Their sentences were suspended and each placed on probation for two years. They were Harry W. Reed, Fred Anderson and Joseph Sharf.

Minneapolis Oldest Citizen Succumbs

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Heinrichs, 100 years old and regarded as the oldest woman in Minneapolis, died today from complications.

She died in her home at 204 Tenth Avenue North which had been her home for 75 years. She came here from Germany and was married in 1855 to Peter Heinrichs. He died 44 years ago.

She is survived by three sons and three daughters.

ATTRACTIVE AWARDS OFFERED AS SCORES BEGIN DECORATING HOMES FOR CHRISTMAS

Christmas spirit gripped Brainerd today as residents enthusiastically made arrangements to compete for the attractive and beautiful awards announced in the Lions Club Yule home decoration contest.

Scores have already signified their intention of participating in the contest, designed to make Brainerd truly the "City with the Christmas Spirit," by the preparation of outdoor decorations befitting the Yuletide. Others today made plans to embellish their homes in an effort to capture the honor of having the most beautifully decorated home and the useful and practical awards being offered the winners.

Unprecedented interest in the event has been manifest since the announcement of the sponsorship of the contest by the Lions Club. Today, Con O'Brien, pioneer Brainerd merchant, announced the offering of an electric waffle iron as second award. A beautiful silver loving cup is being offered by the Lions Club as first prize.

Period of judging will be from Sunday, December 19, to Sunday, January 3. Judges will include the presidents of the chamber of commerce, Rotary Club and Business Men's association. The tour of the city to determine the winners will be made between the hours of 6:30 and 10:30 P. M.

SAW RIPS OUT LIFE

Rail Heads Post Slash, See Amicable Agreement

TO MEET LEADERS OF UNIONS NEXT WEEK ON WAGE QUESTION

ASSURE HOOVER THAT RAILWAYS WILL HANDLE OWN FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

New York, Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Railroad executives of the nation will serve formal notice on their 1,000,000 employees Monday that they "desire" to effect a 15 per cent wage cut.

Later this month an executives' committee will meet with representatives of union labor in an effort to negotiate an amicable settlement of the wage question.

Washington, Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—President Hoover was assured today by Daniel Willard, head of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, that the railroads had a financing program under which "we can handle most of our own problems."

"In addition we have confidence that wage agreements with the unions will provide another $200,000,000. This total of $300,000,000 should take care of fixed charges and tide over the railroads that need help along those lines."

The brief, three-paragraph statement summing up the decision of the meeting follows:

"Responsive to the invitation contained in resolutions passed at the conference of the Railway Labor Executives' association in Chicago Dec. 11, the eastern, western and southern railroad groups today arranged for the regional committee to meet jointly with the committee of the chief executives of the Railway Labor Executives' association and negotiate to a conclusion the pending issue concerning unemployment and wage."

"It was also decided at the meeting to serve notice on the several railway labor organizations represented at the Chicago meeting with which the various railroads have contracts, as provided in the railroad labor act, of a desire to revise the existing contracts so as to effect a 15 per cent reduction in wages of all classes of employees."

Willard said he believed the railroads would be successful in their efforts to negotiate the $200,000,000 wage reduction. He was in general optimistic on the outlook for the coming year.

The $100,000,000 to be provided under the new railway credit corporation formed by the railroads can not be available for two months, but Willard said he was confident money could be obtained until the "pool" was in operation.

500 KIDDIES GIVEN MERRY YULE PARTY

The Loyal Order of Moose entertained in honor of 500 kiddies at a Christmas party last night in the Moose Hall.

Santa Claus was a popular guest. He distributed candy, apples and nuts to all the youngsters. The Women of the Moose were in charge of the program.

Arrangements were made under the leadership of Mrs. L. N. Hanson, Mrs. Rosa Erdman and Mrs. Hester Egan.

Who Will Adopt These 13 Families For Christmas?

So that no families of the immediately surrounding vicinity of Brainerd in Crow Wing county may know want Christmas, The Daily Dispatch through the co-operation of Lottie O'Dell, secretary of the Crow Wing County Child Welfare board, and Caroline Walz, county nurse, today directed a fervent appeal to the more fortunate citizens of Brainerd and Crow Wing county to adopt the 13 families whose Christmas will be otherwise shrouded in a pall of want.

Surely, no one would deny any family a happy Christmas. And, as actually several of the families are in dire circumstances and all are in need, even to the point of suffering and distress, a hearty response to the plea for adoption is expected.

Take for instance, the family designated as No. 5. There are five children in the family. The father is dead and the mother has all she can do to provide the everyday necessities of life. Who will adopt this family so that Christmas will indeed be a time of rejoicing? Family No. 7 includes six fatherless children. Since the death of her husband, the mother has been striving hard to keep her family together but the many obstacles that beset her in her efforts to provide the necessary food and clothing have been all but unavailing. Illness has pursued the family, the children of which range from three to 15 years of age. The family needs groceries and some clothes. Will you step to the front and see that these children and the brave little mother find something in Christmas to be thankful for?

Not only does this appeal go to Brainerd people but anyone in Crow Wing county can rescue a worthy family by adopting it for Christmas.

Designated by numbers, the families can either be aided directly or through either Miss O'Dell or Miss Walz. If the benefactors so desire, they can secure the names of the families from either of these welfare workers or they can provide the aid they wish to give through The Daily Dispatch.

There is no time to waste. These families must be adopted before Christmas and it is urged that an early response will prevail.

The families:

NO. 1—Seven children from 5 to 16 years of age; need clothing and groceries. Father has had only temporary employment. Mother of family is ill.

NO. 2—Six children from 2 to 13 years of age; need clothing and groceries. Father out of work.

NO. 3—Six children from 2 to 12 years of age; need chiefly for groceries. Father is dead and mother is having a difficult time to manage.

NO. 4—Five children from 3 months to 8 years. Father has had only temporary employment. Special food and fruit needed for baby, as well as groceries and clothing for the family.

NO. 5—Five children from 3 to 14 years of age. The father is dead. Family is in need of groceries and some clothing.

NO. 6—Six children from 2 to 14 years of age. Father out of employment. Are in need of food and clothing.

NO. 7—Six children from 3 to 15 years of age. Father is dead. There has been considerable illness in the family. In need of groceries and some clothing.

NO. 8—Elderly couple. Wife is ill; have no one to assist them. Need food and bedding.

NO. 9—Elderly couple. Have no one to assist them; very poor circumstances. Need groceries.

NO. 10—Seven children. Father out of work and family in great need.

NO. 11—Three children from 8 to 14 years of age. Father is dead; family in need of groceries.

NO. 12—Three children from 5 to 14 years of age. Father is dead and family are in need of groceries.

NO. 13—Three children from 1 to 5 years. Family in need of everything. Home recently destroyed by fire.

State Gas Taxes Total $984,673.30 in November

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Gasoline taxes collected in Minnesota during November amounted to $984,673.30, the state oil inspection department said today. Of that amount, $182,675 was refunded, leaving a net of $801,997 for the state highway fund. During November, 41,438,055 gallons of gasoline, kerosene and furnace oil was shipped into Minnesota.

FIVE ESCAPE HURTS AS CAR HITS DITCH

Skidding on the icy pavement, a car driven by Mrs. F. E. Kinsmiller, 206 S. 6th St., went into the ditch and turned on its side at 7 p. m. Friday between Ft. Ripley and Crow Wing. No injuries were suffered by occupants.

Mrs. Kinsmiller was driving to Brainerd when the accident took place. She was returning from St. Cloud with her daughter, Elizabeth, and three classmates Doris Grexow, Vina Gilmer and Murrell Goedder who will spend the Christmas vacation at the homes of their parents here. The four girls are students at the teachers college at St. Cloud.

REPORTS SHORTAGE IN HOSPITAL FUNDS, HITS WATER BOARD

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—A $2,779 shortage in the account of Lattio hospital, Hastings, and criticism of Hastings water department books as "so inaccurately kept as to be of little or no value" was reported today by A. R. Johnson, state public examiner.

Johnson said the hospital committee of the Hastings city council was "careless and negligent" in overseeing affairs of the hospital, which was recently closed. Because of the lax manner of operating the hospital, the examiners were unable to place the responsibility for the discrepancies.

In April this year the city council of Hastings asked that someone take over the hospital. Mayor E. J. King said the institution has been operating at a loss and that its administration was becoming a political issue. The council voted to discontinue the hospital and return the property to the Lattio heirs as provided in the will of Rudolph Lattio, Hastings pioneer, who gave the property to the city under condition that it be returned if the institution was discontinued.

POLITICAL HOPES OF MURRAY JOLTED BY TAX BILLS DEFEAT

REJECTION OF OKLAHOMA TAX REFORM MEASURES VIEWED AS DEFEAT FOR GOVERNOR

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—The political prestige of Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, which has already brought him mention as the possible 1932 Democratic presidential nominee, was lowered today by the defeat of the four tax reform measures he submitted to Oklahoma citizens in special elections.

The measures provided a 10 per cent tax on annual incomes of more than $100,000; appropriated $2,000,000 for free textbooks; escheat to the state of land held by corporations; created a state budget officer accountable to the governor.

A report of 2250 precincts out of 3346 gave the income tax measure 140,869, against 207,931; escheat measure 137,486, against 209,395; textbook 136,402, against 216,109; budget 135,008, against 215,137.

Political opponents saw in his defeat their opportunity to blast his chances, remote as they might be, to be the Democrats' standard-bearer. Some even predicted the results of the election will enable them to keep him from playing an important role in the party's convention.

For Murray, the defeat of his four bills was personal. He placed the measures before the people after they had been rejected by a hostile legislature and campaigned the state, calling upon the citizenry to "oust corrupt wealth."

ZAPFFE HEADS STATE UNIT OF AMERICAN ENGINEERS' SOCIETY

Responsibility of directing activities of the Minnesota section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers has been invested in Carl Zapffe, Brainerd.

Zapffe was named to the post at the annual meeting of the state division held early this week in Minneapolis. Other officers elected were Max Barber, Hibbing, and Robert Longyear, Minneapolis, vice chairmen and S. E. Atkins, Duluth, secretary.

About 90 engineers were present and nearly 50 student engineers swelled the attendance to near the 140 mark.

Besides Zapffe, the delegation from the Cuyuna range included Fred Uhler, Crosby, who recently returned from Russia and who was a speaker on the program, H. J. Pearl, Crosby, consulting engineer; P. G. Harrison, Crosby, general manager of the Evergreen Mining company; Wilbur Van Evera, Crosby, E. P. Scallen, consulting engineer and representative in state legislature; E. Magoffin, Deerwood, and Leslie Wahl, Ironton, general superintendent of the Inland Steel company.

NOTE FOUND ON BODY OF MAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH PUZZLES

Dawson, Minn., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Although accidentally killed when struck by a passing automobile, a note found in the clothing of a man who died last night read:

"Please take this body to Fargo. Will pay Lowell Hansen."

(Signed) "Nash."

The man was killed when struck by a car driven by Erling Windstad, 20, who lives near Dawson. He was accompanied by George Windstad and Alfred Johnson. They said the glare of approaching headlights prevented Windstad from seeing the man.

After the accident, Windstad telephoned from a nearby farm house to Sheriff A. G. Smaagaard and Clarence Hanson, coroner.

The body was taken to Madison. Sheriff Smaagaard was communicating with Fargo officials in an effort to identify the man. He said the accident appeared unavoidable and that an inquest may not be held.

MORATORIUM MEASURE MEETING WITH SENATE OPPOSITION TODAY

Washington, Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Ratification of the Hoover war debt moratorium struck a snag in the senate today and action was delayed until Monday.

Senator Hiram Johnson, republican, California, frustrated plans of the administration leaders to pass the measure today. Ratification was voted by the house last night by 317 to 109 with a reservation expressing congressional opposition to reduction or cancellation of the debts.

The administration forces, however, managed to roll the bill through the senate finance committee with unusual celebrity. Only 15 minutes consideration was given the measure by the committee.

As soon as the senate met, Chairman Smith of the committee presented his favorable report. As he arose a clerk brought over from the house the measure passed by that body last night.

EXPRESS ALARM FOR SAFETY OF MISSING SIX-YEAR OHIO GIRL

FEAR CHILD WAS KIDNAPED, 4 REPORT SEEING HER LEAVE WITH STRANGER

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Marian McLean, blonde-haired 6-year-old, was missing today while Cincinnati police, spurred by fear she was kidnapped and slain, threw every resource of their department into a search.

The child disappeared from her home Thursday. Neighbors said they saw her leave "with a swarthy stranger." No word of her has come to her mother, Mrs. Mildred McLean, since she "went out to play" three days ago.

A suspect, giving the name of Tony Litto, 43, was held in Cincinnati. Loretta Loftus, 6, a friend of Marian, told police Litto offered her 50 cents several weeks ago if she would accompany him. Police brought children from the McLean neighborhood to view him. They talked, excitedly. Little could be learned from them.

As hours went on without substantial clues, reports reached police from many places of possible leads. A Newport, Ky., woman said she saw two women dragging a child, resembling pictures of Marian, along a street here.

Another report was that a man who had been seen near the McLean home was back there yesterday. Evelyn Evans, 15, said the man followed her to a grocery store. She said she heard the man say to companions who met him near the grocery, "That's the girl." She ran home, she said.

With flashlights police searched every nook of a mile-long unused subway tunnel. They found nothing.

Mrs. McLean, estranged from her husband, who lives in Phoenix, Ariz., was hysterical. She no longer gave coherent answers to questions concerning the child. Christmas gifts for Marian were concealed in her small flat.

LABYRINTH OF CLUES BEING PROBED IN DEATH OF DIAMOND

POLICE SEEK THE EX-ZIEGFELD BEAUTY WHOM GUNMAN VISITED AFTER PARTY

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—An automobile license number, a 38 caliber pistol and the secrets of a Broadway show girl were the clues today from which police hoped to trace the killers of Jack "Legs" Diamond.

A maroon car, believed the one which left the gangster's rooming house shortly after he was shot to death in his bed early yesterday, speeded through Saugerties, N. Y., several hours later.

Marion ("Kiki") Roberts, former Ziegfeld beauty, was sought for questioning because it was learned that Diamond spent three hours in her apartment in a drinking orgy before he left for his room, "the spot" for "Legs." Miss Roberts left Albany at 10 A. M. yesterday for Boston, it was learned.

In addition to these clues there is a labyrinth of trails for police to follow. The victim of four previous shootings, Diamond had many enemies, police declare.

Some of his more important enemies police mentioned were Dutch Schultz, Bronx bar runner; Ciro Terranova, active in the malt industry in Albany; Rensselaer and Green counties, and the Spitali brothers, Guy and Salvatore.

CROW WING FARMER GETS YEAR AND DAY FOR HAVING A STILL

Louis Kappel, Crow Wing farmer, will serve one year and one day in Leavenworth prison for operating a still in the manufacture of moonshine whiskey.

Kappel was sentenced from federal district court at Duluth by Judge Gunnard Nordbye.

Smoot jockeyed the house resolution into a position of priority before the senate by substituting it for his bill. Senate republican leaders decided to take up the moratorium bill at 2 p. m. Monday and to remain in night session in an effort to pass it. Majority Leader Watson said that if ratification was not secured Monday night, the senate would take the bill up again Tuesday and remain in "continuous session" until it acted.

The measures provided a 10 per cent tax on annual incomes of more than $100,000; appropriated $2,000,000 for free textbooks; escheat to the state of land held by corporations; created a state budget officer accountable to the governor.

A report of 2250 precincts out of 3346 gave the income tax measure 140,869, against 207,931; escheat measure 137,486, against 209,395; textbook 136,422, against 216,109; budget 135,008, against 215,137.

Political opponents saw in his defeat their opportunity to blast his chances, remote as they might be, to be the Democrats' standard-bearer. Some even predicted the results of the election will enable them to keep him from playing an important role in the party's convention.

For Murray, the defeat of his four bills was personal. He placed the measures before the people after they had been rejected by a hostile legislature and campaigned the state, calling upon the citizenry to "oust corrupt wealth."

ZAPFFE HEADS STATE UNIT OF AMERICAN ENGINEERS' SOCIETY

Responsibility of directing activities of the Minnesota section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers has been invested in Carl Zapffe, Brainerd.

Zapffe was named to the post at the annual meeting of the state division held early this week in Minneapolis. Other officers elected were Max Berger, Hibbing, and Robert Longyear, Minneapolis, vice chairmen and S. E. Atkins, Duluth, secretary.

About 90 engineers were present and nearly 50 student engineers swelled the attendance to near the 140 mark.

Besides Zapffe, the delegation from the Cuyuna range included Fred Uhler, Crosby, who recently returned from Russia and who was a speaker on the program, H. J. Pearl, Crosby, consulting engineer; P. G. Harrison, Crosby, general manager of the Evergreen Mining company; Wilbur Van Evers, Crosby, E. P. Scallen, consulting engineer and representative in state legislature; B. Magoffin, Deerwood, and Leslie Wahl, Ironton, general superintendent of the Inland Steel company.

NOTE FOUND ON BODY OF MAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH PUZZLES

Dawson, Minn., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Although accidentally killed when struck by a passing automobile, a note found in the clothing of a man who died last night read:

"Please take this body to Fargo. Will pay Lowell Hansen."

The man was killed when struck by a car driven by Erling Windstad, 29, who lives near Dawson. He was accompanied by George Windstad and Alfred Johnson. They said the glare of approaching headlights prevented Windstad from seeing the man.

After the accident, Windstad telephoned from a nearby farm house to Sheriff A. G. Smaagaard and Clarence Hanson, coroner.

The body was taken to Madison. Sheriff Smaagaard was communicating with Fargo officials in an effort to identify the man. He said the accident appeared unavoidable and that an inquest may not be held.

MORATORIUM MEASURE MEETING WITH SENATE OPPOSITION TODAY

Washington, Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Ratification of the Hoover war debt moratorium struck a snag in the senate today and action was delayed until Monday.

Senator Hiram Johnson, republican, California, frustrated plans of the administration leaders to pass the measure today. Ratification was voted by the house last night by 317 to 100 with a reservation expressing congressional opposition to reduction or cancellation of the debts.

The administration forces, however, managed to roll the bill through the senate finance committee with unusual celebrity. Only 15 minutes consideration was given the measure by the committee.

As soon as the senate met, Chairman Smith of the committee presented his favorable report. As he arose a clerk brought over from the house the measure passed by that body last night.

EXPRESS ALARM FOR SAFETY OF MISSING SIX-YEAR OHIO GIRL

FEAR CHILD WAS KIDNAPED, 4 REPORT SEEING HER LEAVE WITH STRANGER

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Marian McLean, blonde-haired 6-year-old, was missing today while Cincinnati police, spurred by fear she was kidnapped and slain, threw every resource of their department into a search.

The child disappeared from her home Thursday. Neighbors said they saw her leave "with a swarthy stranger." No word of her has come to her mother, Mrs. Mildred McLean, since she "went out to play" three days ago.

A suspect, giving the name of Tony Litto, 43, was held in Cincinnati. Loretta Loftus, 6, a friend of Marian, told police Litto offered her 50 cents several weeks ago if she would accompany him. Police brought children from the McLean neighborhood to view him. They talked, excitedly. Little could be learned from them.

As hours went on without substantial clues, reports reached police from many places of possible leads. A Newport, Ky., woman said she saw two women dragging a child, resembling pictures of Marian, along a street here.

Another report was that a man who had been seen near the McLean home was back there yesterday. Evelyn Evans, 15, said the man followed her to a grocery store. She said she heard the man say to companions who met him near the grocery, "That's the girl." She ran home, she said.

With flashlights police searched every nook of a mile-long unused subway tunnel. They found nothing.

Mrs. McLean, estranged from her husband, who lives in Phoenix, Ariz., was hysterical. She no longer gave coherent answers to questions concerning the child. Christmas gifts for Marian were concealed in her small flat.

LABYRINTH OF CLUES BEING PROBED IN DEATH OF DIAMOND

POLICE SEEK THE EX-ZEIGFELD BEAUTY WHOM GUNMAN VISITED AFTER PARTY

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—An automobile license number, a .38 caliber pistol and the secrets of a Broadway show girl were the clues today from which police hoped to trace the killers of Jack "Legs" Diamond.

A maroon car, believed the one which left the gangster's rooming house shortly after he was shot to death in his bed early yesterday, speeded through Saugerties, N. Y., several hours later.

Marion ("Kiki") Roberts, former Zeigfeld beauty, was sought for questioning because it was learned that Diamond spent three hours in her apartment in a drinking orgy before he left for his room, "the spot" for "Legs." Miss Roberts left Albany at 10 A. M. yesterday for Boston, it was learned.

In addition to these clues there is a labyrinth of trails for police to follow. The victim of four previous shootings, Diamond had many enemies, police declare.

Some of his more important enemies police mentioned were Dutch Schultz, Bronx beer runner; Ciro Terranova, active in the malt industry in Albany, Rensselaer and Green counties, and the Spittali brothers, Guy and Salvatore.

Smoot jockeyed the house resolution into a position of priority before the senate by substituting it for his bill. Senate republican leaders decided to take up the moratorium bill at 2 p. m. Monday and to remain in night session in an effort to pass it. Majority Leader Watson said that if ratification was not secured Monday night, the senate would take the bill up again Tuesday and remain in "continuous session" until it acted.

His head nearly severed when struck by the broken edges of a band saw on a rig he was operating, Amiel Magnan, 21, St. Mathias, died in the St. Joseph's hospital last night.

The accident occurred about 4:30 P. M. Friday at the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Balere Magnan, eight miles south of Brainerd.

The force with which the saw struck him knocked Magnan to the ground, fracturing an arm. He died at the hospital at 8 P. M. There were no eye witnesses to the accident.

It is believed that the saw broke when it struck a hard object in the log Magnan was sawing.

The saw ripped through his eyes with gruesome effect, cutting deep into his head.

Besides his parents the youth is survived by three brothers and one sister, Wilfred Magnan, Brainerd; Leon, Willmar; Abraham of Faribault, and Mrs. A. E. Herbert of Cloquet.

Arrangements were made today for funeral services at the St. Mathias Catholic church on Monday at 10 A. M., Rev. Father Tertooen officiating. Burial will be in the St. Mathias cemetery.

PUSH LEGISLATION ON RECONSTRUCTION UNIT IN CONGRESS

HOPE TO SET UP PRELIMINARY DETAILS BY EMERGENCY CONGRESSIONAL ACTION

Washington, Dec. 19.—(U.P.)—Emergency congressional action to set up President Hoover's $500,000,000 reconstruction corporation before the holidays was foremost today by Sen. Walcott, republican, Connecticut, after a conference with the president.

"A desperate effort to rush this legislation through before the holiday recess will be made in both houses," Walcott said.

"If we stay in session over Monday and Tuesday, I think there will be a vote on the finance corporation bill on Tuesday."

Walcott said the finance corporation would be "the first order of business" in the senate after speedy action on the war debt moratorium, which was approved by the house last night.

The Hoover measure to give the Federal Land Banks another $100,000,000 capital was scheduled to be taken up and passed by the house today, but Walcott said it would be held over in the senate to permit action on the more important finance corporation.

CROW WING FARMER GETS YEAR AND DAY FOR HAVING A STILL

Louis Kappel, Crow Wing farmer, will serve one year and one day in Leavenworth prison for operating a still in the manufacture of moonshine whiskey.

Kappel was sentenced from federal district court at Duluth by Judge Gunnar Nordbye.

INTERPRETING CHRISTMAS--

Most youngsters believe that there is a benevolent old saint somewhere, far to the north, who looks up his toy factory on Christmas Eve and travels around the world with a bottomless pack of toys. Children's eyes hold a little of the glory of the Bethlehem star-shine as they hang up their stockings on the magic night. Maybe they are hungry. Cold, too, perhaps. And disappointed. But Santa Claus won't fail them, they tell themselves.

They remember that he has stood on the corner and asked them exactly what they wanted. He has pocketed their letters. They saw him do it. Secure in their dreams, they go to sleep.

But a great many children are going to have lumps in their throats when they waken on Christmas morning unless we get busy. They are going to be hurt and baffled when they find limp stockings where they had expected them to be so plump and gay and merry. They are going to bury their heads in the blankets to crush the sobs while they wonder why they were forgotten.

And ever after the tinsel gleam will mean nothing. A world in which Santa Claus will take all of his toys to somebody else can never be quite so lovely to a little boy or girl again.

It is up to us to see that no wistful youngsters wonder why Santa Claus crossed their addresses from his calling list. If we interpret the spirit of giving as we should, every stocking will be fat and every child's voice will be lifting as a Christmas carol.

The large number of children who are dependent on our generosity for their faith in Christmas brings back the thought that this is a season of giving, not of exchanging. The wise men didn't give their gifts to each other. They brought them to one who couldn't repay them in like coin.

It takes such a little to make a child happy. A doll or a horn or spinning top, and a candy cane for the top of the stocking. But he won't forget. After a while when he is older and understands that Santa Claus is only the spirit of Christmas, he will remember gratefully that life didn't fail him. He won't be afraid to trust it again.

But if his stocking is bare not all the tinsel glamour of all the evergreen trees in the whole wide world can ever quite bring back the charm.

TIME—THE WHITEWASHER--

When Professor Herbert A. Miller remarked the other day that Sir Francis Drake was a pirate "who should have been hanged" he was not simply trying to make a startling comment that would land on the front pages. He was testifying to something that is self-evident, if you stop to think about it—the fact that the romance and glamour which bluster about certain historical personages are usually put there chiefly by the passage of time.

Nothing looks quite the same at close range as it does a century or two later. In the days of Elizabeth, for example, there were plenty of people who felt precisely as Dr. Miller feels; the Spanish ambassador in London wore himself to a frazzle trying to project that viewpoint on to Elizabeth herself, and a great number of Englishmen were ready to agree.

But today Drake is something more than an English national hero. He is one of the great adventurers the race has produced, with a name that evokes dreams, and we envy the men who sailed with him around the world.

For time has a way of white-washing things and people; and that, very likely, is why we look back to the "good old days" and complain that our times are out of joint. If we could go back, to any bright epoch we might choose, we should gain very little.

We should find Drake, as Dr. Miller says, something very like an out-and-out pirate. And the same would be true of the others whom the romantics love.

King Arthur's knights, if we could see them in the flesh, would very likely turn out to be a group of swaggering, uncouth roisterers from whom we would depart with relief. Christopher Columbus, greatest of admirals, quite clearly failed to impress very many of his associates with his splendid halo. The men who followed Cortez into Mexico would probably have said that it was a miserable job, sadly underpaid. Lee's army of northern Virginia—perhaps the most "romantic" group of soldiers ever seen—was really dreadfully ragged, frequently downright filthy, and in its off moments utterly unimpressive to the casual observer.

And so it goes. Those bright human actions that men of all ages love to remember usually don't start to glitter until at least half a century has passed.

SCHOOLBOY FRANKS--

A Minnesota jury the other day imposed a fine of $750 on a school superintendent for spanking a boy who had put a tack in the seat of the little girl in front of him; and whether the ordinary citizen agrees that the fine was deserved or not, he will at least read of the incident with a good deal of interest. For it indicates that if one old American custom is slipping, another one, equally venerable, is still thriving.

In the old days no jury would have dreamed of fining a schoolmaster for flogging a juvenile culprit. In that respect American schools have changed tremendously. But in the very first of all the little red schoolhouses, no doubt, small boys put tacks in the seats of their feminine schoolmates; and, in a world of change, it is somehow comforting to learn that they are still doing it. It may be tough on the girls, but it is reassuring to us elders.

DECREASING TRAFFIC DEATHS--

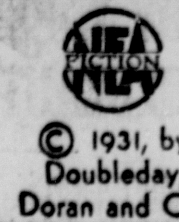

Figures just compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company show that automobile traffic deaths have been decreasing, in many sections of the country, ever since mid-summer. Although the total for the country for the entire year is now estimated at about 34,000—2 per cent over 1930's figures—there are spots in which the trend is definitely encouraging.

In New England, for instance, the number of deaths is definitely below last year's toll. In Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin a decrease of 4 per cent has been recorded. In the Rocky Mountain group there has been a drop of nearly 7 per cent.

It's too soon to congratulate ourselves, of course. That total of 34,000 is still disgraceful. But even little decreases here and there are good news. Let's have some more of them next year.

THREE KINDS of LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES FENWICK live with their grandparents, once wealthy, now so impoverished that Anne's and Cecily's earnings support the household. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents are known respectively as "GRANDPA" and "GRANDMA" and they insist on keeping up pretenses of their former wealth.

Anne, 28, and Cecily, 22, do secretarial work and Mary-Frances, 15, is still in school. When the story opens Anne has been engaged to PHILIP ECHOYD, young lawyer, for eight years.

Cecily brings BARRY McKEEL home to dinner. It is evident that she is falling in love with him. Mary-Frances has a telephone call from her friend, ERMINTREDE, who is excited about the arrival of an actor known as EARL DE ARMOINT. The two girls make plans to meet him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI

"I'm going over to stay all night with Ermintrude," Mary-Frances announced.

"Who said that you might?"

"Rosalie."

"After Cecily had said you might not, I suppose?"

"I asked Rosalie first."

"Did Cecily say you might take her overnight bag with you?"

"Pooh," said Mary-Frances. "What makes you so quarrelsome here lately, Ann? Classy practically gave me this old thing the first time I asked her to borrow it."

"It isn't an old thing at all," said Ann. "It is a very handsome piece of luggage, and it was a gift to Cecily. If you use it, you must take care of it."

"Quarrelsomeness," said Mary-Frances. "Is just awful. I've noticed it a lot in you lately, Ann. I'll bet Phil notices it too, and I'll bet—"

"Mary-Frances, you must stop saying 'I'll bet' all the time. I won't have it."

"Quarrelling again," deprecated Mary-Frances, and opened the front door.

"Wait," said Ann. "It is nearly nine o'clock. You can't go running around alone after dark, and you know it. Phil will be here any minute now, and we'll take you over in the car."

"Only five blocks," said Mary-Frances, and edged through the door.

"Mary-Frances, come back in here and wait for Phil. You are not to go alone."

"Stop pinching my arm, Ann Fenwick. Rosalie said I could go. I'm not going to stick around here all night waiting for your old Phil, and like as not he won't be here for hours, and Ermintrude and I have to get our studying done, don't we, and—"

Ann heard a step outside. Phil was coming. She always told him that she never quarreled with her sisters.

"Mary-Frances, honey, here's Phil now. What makes you act like this to me when you know I had a big company dinner to get and that I'm tired?"

"Angel Ann," Mary-Frances, as susceptible as a puppy, snuggled close to her, and so Philip saw them, through the open door, in loving sisterly embrace; but his, "Hello, there," suggested no particular enthusiasm for the tableau.

He did not kiss Ann (she had decided that it was wiser for them not to kiss in front of Mary-Frances), but he took her hand and squeezed it before he turned to the hall rack.

ANN said, "Phil, Mary-Frances is going to spend the night with her little friend. I thought we might take her over there in your car."

"Sorry," he hung up his hat and took off his raincoat. "It's in the garage again. I'm convinced that the piston rods are clogged."

"Oh, my word! Again?" Ann frowned and shook her head.

"Should I have said 'yet'?"

Phil often was clever; but when he couldn't be clever he tried to be, anyway. That was a silly old joke. He kicked off his overshoes. He stood there, slicking his hair back when it didn't need slicking, and when he should have been interested in how Mary-Frances was going to get to Ermintrude's house.

"Well," Ann decreed, "we'll have to walk over with her, then. It is just across to the new addition. She can't go alone after dark. You'll not mind walking a few blocks with Mary-Frances and me, will you?"

"Not at all," said Phil, and began to put on his overshoes. "Delighted, of course." He stamped his feet into them. (Oh, well, if he wanted to be silly and stiff and formal like that, let him!) "Better take your umbrella. I didn't bring mine. I wore my raincoat."

The rain had stopped, so Phil carried the umbrella under his arm, and they had gone a block before he said, "I walked over here this evening."

"Walked!" Ann protested. "All the way across the river? It's miles from your place. What possessed you?"

"I felt like a walk. Needed the exercise."

"But, Phil—I shouldn't have dreamed of dragging you right out again, if I'd known. You must be very tired. Why didn't you tell me?"

Ann, in the darkness, could not see his shrug; but she could hear it plainly in his voice as he answered, "Oh, well, what's the difference? We had to bring her, didn't we?"

MARY-FRANCES delivered safely into the Hills' bright front hall, Ann said again, "But, dear, I wouldn't have asked you to come over here, not for anything, if I'd known you'd walked so far."

"Not even to escort Mary-Frances?"

"Phil," she questioned, "what is the matter with you lately?"

"Nothing whatever. But what is the matter with you, Ann?"

"I don't know."

"You admit that something is?"

"Well," she hesitated, "it is only, I think, that you have been acting so sort of funny lately."

"I haven't felt sorta funny," he said.

She would not answer. She had not said "sorts" like that. He was always criticizing her lately. He said that she was stubborn. She was not; but since he thought so she'd give him a reason for thinking it. She would not speak again until he spoke. He was the stubborn one, if it came to it. How could she love a man like Phil—

"Quarrelsomeness," said Mary-Frances, "is just awful. I've noticed it a lot in you lately, Ann."

"Quarrelsomeness," said Mary-Frances, "is just awful. I've noticed it a lot in you lately, Ann."

"Quarrelsomeness," said Mary-Frances, "is just awful. I've noticed it a lot in you lately, Ann."

stalking along beside her in that stupid silence, when he knew he had hurt her feelings? How could she? Perhaps she didn't. It would be easy for her to say, "Isn't it pleasant after the rain?" No, she would not. She might say, "Have you heard from your mother lately?" No, she would not.

"Mary-Frances," he said, "spends ever so many nights with that girl friend of hers, doesn't she?"

"Yes," Ann admitted reluctantly. "She does go rather often. But why?"

"It seems most unwise to me. Mother never allowed Elise to spend a night away from home until she went to Eugene to the university. During the romancing, daydreaming age it is better for them to do it alone, if they have to, than it is for them to have someone to talk it all over with—make it more real, you know."

"But Mary-Frances is only 15 years old."

"My point, exactly. It is a dangerous age. Not a woman—not a little girl. Also, unless I'm mistaken, she is badly boy-struck and at the silliest stage of it."

PHIL said, "Don't misunderstand me, dear. I do like Mary-Frances a lot. That is why—"

"No," she interrupted, "you don't like Mary-Frances, and you don't like Cecily. You don't like either one of my sisters. You never have. You don't like them a bit. You don't like any of us. You don't like me—"

He patted her on the shoulder, "Behave," he said, "You Beautiful."

It was one of the old love names. He had not called her "You Beautiful" for months, and she thought that he had forgotten it.

"Sweetheart?" she said.

He put his arms around her and kissed her. The trees there in the yard were still shaking the gathered rain from their leaves, and drops fell like big cold tears on Ann's upturned face, but she did not notice them.

"Dear, dear," she said. "I love you so. I love you so."

He kissed her again. He had not said that he loved her, and she wished to hear it, so she said for him, "And you love me. I don't see how we can quarrel when we love each other so much. Do you?"

His answer was the old complaint and apology of lovers: "Our quarrels are never with each other, dearest. They are always with externals. If we could be away alone together, all alone, you and I, we'd have such a paradise that we'd forget, even, that other people ever quarreled."

"Only," said Ann, "people so seldom are—all alone, away from everything, I mean."

He brought a handkerchief from his pocket and dried the back of his neck where the raindrops had fallen, and said as he put his arm around her and began to walk with her toward the house, "I didn't mean out of this world. I meant that we could be happy here, anywhere, if we were ever allowed to make our own world alone together."

"But," Ann questioned, "are people ever allowed to make their own worlds anywhere, Phil dear?"

"We aren't," he answered, and stopped on the porch. Ann hoped that he would kiss her again, but he did not. He repeated, "We certainly aren't," and opened the front door.

INTERPRETING CHRISTMAS--

Most youngsters believe that there is a benevolent old saint somewhere, far to the north, who locks up his toy factory on Christmas Eve and travels around the world with a bottomless pack of toys. Children's eyes hold a little of the glory of the Bethlehem star-shine as they hang up their stockings on the magic night. Maybe they are hungry. Cold, too, perhaps. And disappointed. But Santa Claus won't fail them, they tell themselves.

They remember that he has stood on the corner and asked them exactly what they wanted. He has pocketed their letters. They saw him do it. Secure in their dreams, they go to sleep.

But a great many children are going to have lumps in their throats when they waken on Christmas morning unless we get busy. They are going to be hurt and baffled when they find limp stockings where they had expected them to be so plump and gay and merry. They are going to bury their heads in the blankets to crush the sobs while they wonder why they were forgotten.

And ever after the tinsel gleam will mean nothing. A world in which Santa Claus will take all of his toys to somebody else can never be quite so lovely to a little boy or girl again.

It is up to us to see that no wistful youngsters wonder why Santa Claus crossed their addresses from his calling list. If we interpret the spirit of giving as we should, every stocking will be fat and every child's voice will be lifting as a Christmas carol.

The large number of children who are dependent on our generosity for their faith in Christmas brings back the thought that this is a season of giving, not of exchanging. The wise men didn't give their gifts to each other. They brought them to one who couldn't repay them in like coin.

It takes such a little to make a child happy. A doll or a horn or spinning top, and a candy cane for the top of the stocking. But he won't forget. After a while when he is older and understands that Santa Claus is only the spirit of Christmas, he will remember gratefully that life didn't fail him. He won't be afraid to trust it again.

But if his stocking is bare not all the tinsel glamour of all the evergreen trees in the whole wide world can ever quite bring back the charm.

TIME—THE WHITEWASHER--

When Professor Herbert A. Miller remarked the other day that Sir Francis Drake was a pirate "who should have been hanged" he was not simply trying to make a startling comment that would land on the front pages. He was testifying to something that is self-evident, if you stop to think about it—the fact that the romance and glamour which bluster about certain historical personages are usually put there chiefly by the passage of time.

Nothing looks quite the same at close range as it does a century or two later. In the days of Elizabeth, for example, there were plenty of people who felt precisely as Dr. Miller feels; the Spanish ambassador in London wore himself to a frazzle trying to project that viewpoint on to Elizabeth herself, and a great number of Englishmen were ready to agree.

But today Drake is something more than an English national hero. He is one of the great adventurers the race has produced, with a name that evokes dreams, and we envy the men who sailed with him around the world.

For time has a way of white-washing things and people; and that, very likely, is why we look back to the "good old days" and complain that our times are out of joint. If we could go back, to any bright epoch we might choose, we should gain very little.

We should find Drake, as Dr. Miller says, something very like an out-and-out pirate. And the same would be true of the others whom the romantics love.

King Arthur's knights, if we could see them in the flesh, would very likely turn out to be a group of swaggering, uncouth roisterers from whom we would depart with relief. Christopher Columbus, greatest of admirals, quite clearly failed to impress very many of his associates with his splendid halo. The men who followed Cortez into Mexico would probably have said that it was a miserable job, sadly underpaid. Lee's army of northern Virginia—perhaps the most "romantic" group of soldiers ever seen—was really dreadfully ragged, frequently downright filthy, and in its off moments utterly unimpressive to the casual observer.

And so it goes. Those bright human actions that men of all ages love to remember usually don't start to glitter until at least half a century has passed.

SCHOOLBOY PRANKS--

A Minnesota jury the other day imposed a fine of $750 on a school superintendent for spanking a boy who had put a tack in the seat of the little girl in front of him; and whether the ordinary citizen agrees that the fine was deserved or not, he will at least read of the incident with a good deal of interest. For it indicates that if one old American custom is slipping, another one, equally venerable, is still thriving.

In the old days no jury would have dreamed of fining a schoolmaster for flogging a juvenile culprit. In that respect American schools have changed tremendously. But in the very first of all the little red schoolhouses, no doubt, small boys put tacks in the seats of their feminine schoolmates; and, in a world of change, it is somehow comforting to learn that they are still doing it. It may be tough on the girls, but it is reassuring to us elders.

DECREASING TRAFFIC DEATHS--

Figures just compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company show that automobile traffic deaths have been decreasing, in many sections of the country, ever since mid-summer. Although the total for the country for the entire year is now estimated at about 34,000—2 per cent over 1930's figures—there are spots in which the trend is definitely encouraging.

In New England, for instance, the number of deaths is definitely below last year's toll. In Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin a decrease of 4 per cent has been recorded. In the Rocky Mountain group there has been a drop of nearly 7 per cent.

It's too soon to congratulate ourselves, of course. That total of 34,000 is still disgraceful. But even little decreases here and there are good news. Let's have some more of them next year.

THREE KINDS of LOVE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES FENWICK live with their grandparents, once wealthy, now so impoverished that Anne's and Cecily's earnings support the household. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents are known respectively as "ROSALIE" and "GRAND" and they insist on keeping up pretenses of their former wealth.

Anne, 28, and Cecily, 22, do secretarial work and Mary-Frances, 15, is still in school. When the story opens Anne has been engaged to PHILIP ECROYD, young lawyer, for eight years. Cecily brings BARRY McKEEL home to dinner. It is evident that she is falling in love with him. Mary-Frances has a telephone call from her friend, ERMINTRUDE, who is excited about the arrival of an actor known as EARL DE ARBENT. The two girls make plans to meet him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI

"I'm going over to stay all night with Ermintrude," Mary-Frances announced.

"Who said that you might?"

"Rosalie."

"After Cecily had said you might not, I suppose?"

"I asked Rosalie first."

"Did Cecily say you might take her overnight bag with you?"

"Pooh," said Mary-Frances. "What makes you so quarrelsome here lately, Ann? Cissy practically gave me this old thing the first time I asked her to borrow it."

"It isn't an old thing at all," said Ann. "It is a very handsome piece of luggage, and it was a gift to Cecily. If you use it, you must take care of it."

"Quarrelsomeness," said Mary-Frances, "is just awful. I've noticed it a lot in you lately, Ann. I'll bet Phil notices it too, and I'll bet—"

"Mary-Frances, you must stop saying 'I'll bet' all the time. I won't have it."

"Quarrelling again," deprecated Mary-Frances, and opened the front door.

"Wait," said Ann. "It is nearly nine o'clock. You can't go running around alone after dark, and you know it. Phil will be here any minute now, and we'll take you over in the car."

"Only five blocks," said Mary-Frances, and edged through the door.

"Mary-Frances, come back in here and wait for Phil. You are not to go alone."

"Stop pinching my arm, Ann Fenwick. Rosalie said I could go. I'm not going to stick around here all night waiting for your old Phil, and like as not he won't be here for hours, and Ermintrude and I have to get our studying done, don't we, and—"

Ann heard a step outside. Phil was coming. She always told him that she never quarreled with her sisters.

"Mary-Frances, honey, here's Phil now. What makes you act like this to me when you know I had a big company dinner to get and that I'm tired?"

"Angel Ann," Mary-Frances, as susceptible as a puppy, snuggled close to her, and so Philip saw them, through the open door, in loving sisterly embrace; but his, "Hello, there," suggested no particular enthusiasm for the tableau.

He did not kiss Ann (she had decided that it was wiser for them not to kiss in front of Mary-Frances), but he took her hand and squeezed it before he turned to the hall rack.

ANN said, "Phil, Mary-Frances is going to spend the night with her little friend. I thought we might take her over there in your car."

"Sorry," he hung up his hat and took off his raincoat. "It's in the garage again. I'm convinced that the piston rods are clogged."

"Oh, my word! Again?" Ann frowned and shook her head.

"Should I have said 'yet'?"

Phil often was clever; but when he couldn't be clever he tried to be, anyway. That was a silly old joke. He kicked off his overshoes. He stood there, slicking his hair back when he didn't need slicking, and when he should have been interested in how Mary-Frances was going to get to Ermintrude's house.

"Well," Ann decreed, "we'll have to walk over with her, then. It is just across to the new addition. She can't go alone after dark. You'll not mind walking a few blocks with Mary-Frances and me, will you?"

"Not at all," said Phil, and began to put on his overshoes. "Delighted, of course." He stamped his feet into them. (Oh, well, if he wanted to be silly and stiff and formal like that, let him!) "Better take your umbrella. I didn't bring mine. I wore my raincoat."

The rain had stopped, so Phil carried the umbrella under his arm, and they had gone a block before he said, "I walked over here this evening."

"Walked!" Ann protested. "All the way across the river? It's miles

"Mary-Frances," he said, "spends ever so many nights with that girl friend of hers, doesn't she?"

Too often when lettuce is used principally for the salad green—as a bed for some salad mixture—it is not eaten and means a waste of both money and food elements. Lettuce rolls, an arrangement in which the salad mixture is rolled in a lettuce leaf, insures against this waste. Shredded lettuce and the tiny leaves from the heart of head lettuce can be combined with other salad materials to good advantage. This makes sure of some of the valuable vitamins being eaten, even if the bed is left untouched.

You probably know the stuffed prune salad in which cream cheese and nuts are used for the stuffing, but the following rule may be new to you.

Prune and Cabbage Salad
Sixteen to twenty fine large prunes, 1 tablespoon grated horseradish, 1 cup finely diced celery, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

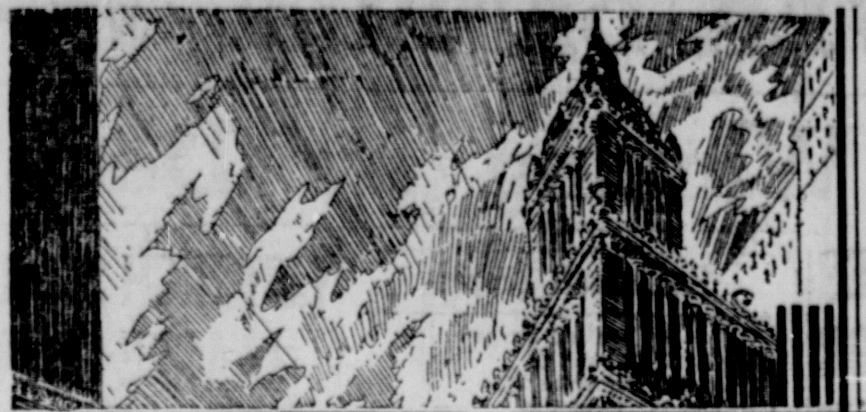

2 cups shredded cabbage, French dressing.

Wash prunes well through several waters. Cover with water and let boil one hour, letting water cook away. Remove pits from prunes. Combine horseradish and celery with salt and add mayonnaise to make moist. Fill prunes with this mixture. Marinate cabbage in French dressing on ice for 30 minutes. Arrange on individual salad plates or a platter and put prepared prunes on the cabbage. Serve with French dressing.

RESERVES REPLACE REGULARS TO WIN OVER BEMIDJI, 19-11

WILD CAGE BATTLE ENSUES AS SCRAPPY SUBS TAKE CONTROL

FIRST STRING, LISTLESS AFTER SPUDS GAME, SUBBED BEFORE HALF

Failing to click properly, Coach Dammann substituted all of the regulars before the close of the first half and the reserves provided a lively cage battle to win over Bemidji, 19 to 11, at the Washington high school last night.

Apparently the first string varsity favored a moratorium after their game with the Moorhead Spuds the evening previous. Although the team had an edge of six points when they went out of the game, the first string boys were listless in play and failed to function.

Not that the reserves improved the game any but their entry provided a more exciting encounter in speed and versatility of play. The reserves were the natural players to send in under the circumstances. A wild battle ensued with Brainerd better than holding its own.

That part of the game played by the reserves was wild and produced every known phase of basketball offense and defense and a few unknown plays.

The reserves are a scrappy lot and with brushing up will be right in the play when their turn comes to hold down regular berths on the squad.

Gopher Hockey Team Wins Right to Olympic Games

Minneapolis, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The University of Minnesota hockey team today had virtually clinched the right to enter the national Olympic hockey eliminations by its 4 to 0 victory over the Eveleth Junior college team last night.

One more game will be played to-night with the total score of the two games the deciding factors in which team represents the district. With only one senior, Captain Marsh Ryan, in its lineup the Gophers scored with three different combinations of forwards, Phil Labatte and the veteran Suomi at defense backed up by the fine goal guarding of Jones kept the Eveleth squad scoreless.

Kentucky Tomcats Can't Remember When They Lost a Football Game

Ashland (Ky.) high school's football team, the "Tomcats," are champions of Dixie for the 1931 season. The school has been undefeated in football for seven years. BREADON BELIEVES WILSON WILL WORK TO SHOW UP HORNSBY

New York, Dec. 19.—(UP)—A comeback was predicted for Hack Wilson by Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, on the eve of his departure for a vacation to Bahama today.

"We have," Breadon said, "no intention whatever of letting Hack go for a song or a couple of songs. I know we gave up quite a lot to get him along with Bud Tophant from the Cubs for Burleigh Grimes, but I am confident the deal eventually will prove to our benefit."

Breadon said he believed Wilson was sincere in his assertion that he will vindicate himself with a big comeback next year. "Our first move," the Cardinal head said, "will be to put Hack under a thorough physical examination, particularly as to his eyesight, and if found absolutely sound I am certain he will be of considerable help to us."

Hack was examined Friday in Columbus.

Wilson is likely to play his head off next year to show up Hornsby, his old boss, Breadon believes.

INDEPENDENTS PLAY AT CROSBY SUNDAY

The Brainerd Merchants will open their basketball season Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Crosby Armory playing the Inland Rangers.

The Brainerd team will have the following players: Swanson, Schaefer, Heikinen, Hautala, Paine, Gabou, Foster, Marshall, Garvey, Fuller, Schneider, Guin.

Ashland, Ky., Dec. 19.—Ashland high school football teams have not lost a game in seven years, and during that time they have amassed a total of 2304 points to 129 points by the opposition in 68 games. In only 17 games were the opponents able to score.

In 1925, Ashland, known as the "Tomcats," first attracted attention in state athletic circles by enrolling the state grid title with Morganfield. Since then "Tomcat" teams, coached by Paul Jenkins, have won the state grid title every year.

On Dec. 5, the 1931 Ashland eleven played Decatur, Ga., high school for what was reputed to be the championship of Dixie. And while the Georgia team owned an enviable record it was entirely outclassed. The Kentuckians won, 85 to 6.

This year's Ashland victories have been over such teams as Fenger High of Chicago, Portsmouth, Va., Huntington, W. Va., and other outstanding teams.

RANGERS WIN 38-13 FROM TWO HARBORS

The basketball team of the Crosby-Ironton high school carried off the honors in the game played at Two Harbors Thursday evening, the score being 38-13 in favor of the range team.

Captain Herman Wook used all the members of both teams in the play.

The C-I team expects to meet with greater opposition when they play the fast Moorhead team in Crosby to night.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Dec. 19.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, on the road back to the boxing game he "loves so well," ended the first leg of his barnstorming tour today.

TENTATIVELY SET DATE FOR SCHMELING WALKER GO IN MARCH

SITE WILL BE CHICAGO IF LEGISLATURE WILL LEGALIZE 15-ROUND BOUT

Chicago, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The world's heavyweight champion, Max Schmeling of Germany, will defend his title against Mickey Walker of New Jersey, here next March, provided the Illinois legislature and Gov. L. L. Emmerson legalize 15-round heavyweight bouts in this state when that lawmaking body reconvenes January 5.

Nate Lewis, Chicago stadium matchmaker, today had acceptance of his offer from Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, provided the bout is allowed to go 15 instead of the 10 rounds now permitted in Illinois.

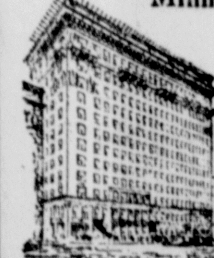

A bill for this purpose has been introduced and advanced in the legislature and will come up for vote shortly after the house of representatives meets after the Christmas holidays. Since its passage would mean thousands of dollars in additional revenue to the state approval is anticipated. The measure would increase the state's share of receipts from these bouts from 10 to 15 per cent.

The stadium's offer to Schmeling was a guarantee of $200,000 or a privilege of 40 per cent of the gate receipts.

OLD BOXING MASTER BATTERED TO FLOOR THREE TIMES IN BOUT

LOUGHRAN NO LONGER VIEWED AS CONTENDER AS RESULT OF LOSS TO CHICAGOAN

New York, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Sing it softly, boy, for it's the swan song of Tommy Loughran, the same Tommy Loughran who only yesterday was regarded as boxing's greatest 10-round fighter and an outstanding contender for Max Schmeling's heavyweight title.

The flashing fists of King Levinsky were beating out the dirge of Tommy's title hopes when they carried the slugging young Chicagoan to a 10-round three-knockdown victory over the Philadelphia boxing master at Madison Square Garden last night.

When Tommy Loughran, past master of boxing skill, loses a 10-round decision through being knocked down three times by a fighter so clumsy that he falls down in missing punches, the Philadelphia pugilistic professor no longer retains his speed.

That speed had enabled him to win third place, directly behind Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey, in heavyweight rankings for 1931.

And if Loughran no longer retains the skill and speed to defeat the tyro Levinsky—who couldn't have hit Tommy a year ago with a buggy whip—he no longer rates as a dangerous opponent for Messrs. Schmeling and Sharkey.

"I just couldn't seem to keep moving fast enough," Loughran said. "Those right hands kept booming out of nowhere and I couldn't block them as I've blocked their predecessors. Levinsky is greatly improved since I fought him a year ago."

His three knockdowns were scored sponge.

with booming right crosses, the first late in the third round, Tommy took a count of eight. In the next round he fell victim to a hard right which sent him tumbling in the resin for a nine count.

The final knockdown, in the ninth, might easily have been a knockout. Loughran instinctively got up at eight, sidestepped the rushing Levinsky and grabbed his foe from behind. The bell rang before Referee Donovan could separate the fighters and Tommy—apparently out on his feet—immediately plunked himself down on the first available stool. It was Levinsky's stool but Tommy didn't know the difference.

Manager Joe Smith dashed across the ring and carried Tommy to his own corner where he was revived for the final round.

And Levinsky, a 1 to 4 underdog in the betting, has the satisfaction of knowing he gave Loughran more punishment than the Philadelphia had received in any other bout of his career.

With the public thinking so little of his chances that only 6,658 turned out to make a $21,358.67 gate (one of the smallest in the Garden's history) Levinsky turned in the biggest flaccid upset of the year.

Manager Joe Smith dashed across the ring and carried Tommy to his own corner where he was revived for the final round.

And Levinsky, a 1 to 4 underdog in the betting, has the satisfaction of knowing he gave Loughran more punishment than the Philadelphia had received in any other bout of his career.

With the public thinking so little of his chances that only 6,658 turned out to make a $21,358.67 gate (one of the smallest in the Garden's history) Levinsky turned in the biggest flaccid upset of the year.

Switzerland produces a form of rock light enough to float on water and having about the consistency of a sponge.

Sunday school—10 A. M.
Wednesday evening meetings at 8 P. M.
Sunday services at 11 A. M.
Topic: Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?
Reading room in rear of church open weekdays and Saturdays from 3 to 5 P. M. All are welcome.
The subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday, December 20, 1931, is "Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"
The Golden Text is "Of old hath thou laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the work of thy hands" (Psalms 102:25).
Among the passages which constitute the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear" (Hebrews 11:3).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mind creates His own likeness in ideas, and the substance of an idea is very far from being the supposed substance of non-intelligent matter. Hence the Father Mind is not 'the father of matter'" (p. 237).

MUSICAL SCORE TO FEATURE CHRISTMAS SERVICES AT CHURCH

Christmas services will be the order of the day at the First Baptist church tomorrow, with beautiful decorations, appropriate music and fitting messages constituting the programs at the morning and evening worship hours.
The Rev. Edgar A. Valiant, the pastor, will be in charge of the services, and will preach on the subject, "Christmas Morning," at 11 a. m., and "The Unusual Child," at 7:45 p. m.
Mrs. O. C. Johnson and Will Anderson will be the vocal soloists, and Mrs. Faye Lewis, Arvid Anderson and Kenneth Breckner the instrumental artists for the day, with the church choir singing special anthems at both services.
Groom's arrangement of "Adeste Fideles and Silent Night, Holy Night" will be played as a violin duet by Arvid Anderson and Kenneth Breckner; "The Song that Shall Never Cease" by Herbert, will be sung by Mrs. Johnson; "Night of Nights" by Van De Water will be sung by Will Anderson, and "Sweetest Music, Softly Stealing" will be the anthem rendered by the church choir at the morning service.
The program of music at the evening hour of worship will be two clarinet solos, "O Holy Night" and "A Christmas Lullaby," by Mrs. Faye Lewis; solo, "Follow His Star of Love," by Ellmore, Mrs. Johnson; solo, "The Birthday of a King," by Weidinger, Will Anderson; anthems, "Calm on the Listening Ear," and "The Manger Lullaby," the choir, with Miss Mabel Olson singing the solo part in the last number.
Another special feature of the day will be the "Love Offering" given by the members of the church, for the missionary work of the denomination. This custom has been followed by Baptist churches all over the Northern Baptist convention territory for a number of years at the Christmas time.

MUSICAL SCORE TO FEATURE CHRISTMAS SERVICES AT CHURCH

Christmas services will be the order of the day at the First Baptist church tomorrow, with beautiful decorations, appropriate music and fitting messages constituting the programs at the morning and evening worship hours.
The Rev. Edgar A. Valiant, the pastor, will be in charge of the services, and will preach on the subject, "Christmas Morning," at 11 a. m., and "The Unusual Child," at 7:45 p. m.
Mrs. O. C. Johnson and Will Anderson will be the vocal soloists, and Mrs. Faye Lewis, Arvid Anderson and Kenneth Breckner the instrumental artists for the day, with the church choir singing special anthems at both services.

Groom's arrangement of "Adeste Fideles and Silent Night, Holy Night" will be played as a violin duet by Arvid Anderson and Kenneth Breckner; "The Song that Shall Never Cease" by Herbert, will be sung by Mrs. Johnson; "Night of Nights" by Van De Water will be sung by Will Anderson, and "Sweetest Music, Softly Stealing" will be the anthem rendered by the church choir at the morning service.
The program of music at the evening hour of worship will be two clarinet solos, "O Holy Night" and "A Christmas Lullaby," by Mrs. Faye Lewis; solo, "Follow His Star of Love," by Ellmore, Mrs. Johnson; solo, "The Birthday of A King," by Weidinger, Will Anderson; anthems, "Calm on the Listening Ear," and "The Manger Lullaby," the choir, with Miss Mabel Olson singing the solo part in the last number.
Another special feature of the day will be the "Love Offering" given by the members of the church, for the missionary work of the denomination. This custom has been followed by Baptist churches all over the Northern Baptist convention territory for a number of years at the Christmas time.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will
No. 2619
State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss. Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of William H. Cleary, also known as W. H. Cleary, Decedent.
The State of Minnesota to All Whom It May Concern:
Whereas, Katherine J. Cleary, of the City of Brainerd, in said County and State, has deposited in this Court an instrument in writing purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of William H. Cleary, late of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, together with her petition praying that said instrument be allowed and admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be granted thereon to Katherine J. Cleary and Henry R. White, which instrument and petition are on file in this Court and open to inspection.
It is Ordered, That said petition be heard on the 4th day of January, 1932, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the Probate Court Room in the Court House at Brainerd, in said County and State; that you be and appear before this Court at said time and place and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted; that you file your objections, if any there be, in writing, in this Court to the allowance of said Will, before said hearing; and that this citation be served by the publication thereof according to law, and by mailed notice as required by the rules of this Court.
Witness: The Judge of this Court and the Seal thereof this 12th day of December, 1931.
L. B. KINDER, (Probate Court Seal) Probate Judge.
WELAND & SULLIVAN, Attorneys for Petitioner.
